News, page 7:

Part II of cooking holiday meal: making pizza, dip, and cookies. Opinion, page 9:

Students give opposing views on outcome of children's holiday party

Sports, page 13:

After eight years

BY LISA S. MUSAWWIR ARTS EDITOR

"This is 88.7 WPSC-FM," were the first words heard last

Wednesday at 5 p.m. as WPC's new FM radio station went on the air unofficially for the purpose of following a ribbon cutting ceremony outside the station. Deana Malsman, production

director of Campus Radio

Network (CRN), will be the first

John Kiernan, general manager of WPSC-FM, said,

This new station will not only appeal to the college, but to the station. The funding for the station has come primarily from the college and the communication

Almost eight years of planning have gone into this

DJ to go live on the air.

surrounding areas also."

The station will officially go on the airwaves at 12 noon today testing their new transmitter.

Editor gives holiday gift wish list for WPC athletes and coaches

PSC goes FM

The Beacon

Serving the college community for over 50 years

Vol. 55 No. 16

William Paterson College

December 12, 1988

"Initially, when this plan was proposed eight years ago, the WPC Foundation set aside the money for the transmitter we have today," said Kiernan. "We've had great student support throughout, as well as given so much of their time

include: Joe Schilp, general manager of CRN; Dave Cotter, operation manager of CRN (who has also applied for the same position in the FM station); Matt Locker, program director for the

FM station; Deana Malsman,

CRN; Anthony Maltese, faculty member in the communication department; and Eddie Schanitle, primarily student operated.

Kiernan, the only professional member of the staff, will oversee the general proceedings of the station. "I think the community

The FM station will be

last year's general manager.

director

Among the students that have

from the administration.'

production

Trustees grant tenure to 12

The Beacon/Mike Chesk

Demonstration

Several students protested a clothing drive sponsored by the Young Republican Club in the Student Center this week. The drive was held to collect clothing for the contras in Central America.

department. They have also provided new facilities for CRN. will benefit greatly from our station."

The WPC Board of Trustees granted tenure to 12 faculty members at its meeting last Monday.

Those receiving tenure are: Claudette Barry, nursing; Anita Barrow and Charley Flint, sociology/anthropology and geography; Arabinda Ghosh and Taghi Ramin, economics and finance; Stephen Hahn and Linda Hamalian, English; Stephen Marcone, music; Imatidon Olaye, communication; Richard Pardi, chemistry, physics and environmental science; Jacques Pluss, history; and Miryam Wahrman, biology.

The board also reappointed 18 faculty members who are currently in their third and fourth years.

See BOARD, page 6

Firm hired for $3m project BY NOREEN E. BRAUN NEWS EDITOR "That's part of what the architect is going to do as a firs

BY NOREEN E. BRAUN NEWS EDITOR

Year-long vacancy filled

Ryerson named police chief

Slowing down "the revolving door" that describes the attrition rate of WPC police officers is one goal of newly-appointed police chief, Pete Ryerson

"One of the major concerns is the attrition of young patrolmen," Ryerson said. Often the college pays for the officers' training, then they leave to join a municipal force, he said.

One of the key reasons for the attrition is that WPC officers are not permitted to wear guns, he said.

"They feel as unarmed police officers that they cannot properly perform the job that they were hired for or trained for," Ryerson said.

To combat this problem,

Pete Ryerson

Ryerson said he would like to focus on other positive points WPC has to offer its officers, including building a "careerminded nucleus" with opportunities for advancement for the officers.

"Until that's achieved, the community will never get the See RYERSON, page 5 Hobart Hall will undergo $2.5 to $3.2 million in renovations and construction which will increase the building's size by about one half, said Peter Spiridon, vice president for Administration and Finance.

The project, which will be financed by "reserve funds," should be completed by January 1991, he said.

Grad Partnership of Newark, an architectural firm, has been selected to oversee the project. "They are an old, old firm," Spiridon said. "They are very good. They have done a lot of major projects in New York as well as New Jersey."

The exact cost and size of the project will be determined by the firm. "That's part of what the architect is going to do as a first order of business," Spiridon said. "They'll develop a program with the people who will use it (communication faculty and staff) to determine how they want to use the space to support their academic program and space needs."

The cost could be reduced once the designing starts, he said.

Spiridon said execution of the renovation project must be staged.

"It's got to be done in such a way so we don't inconvenience the program," he said. "It's too big. We can't just shut down."

The current schedule for the project shows all contracts ready by July 1989, followed by a one-month bidding period, and then commencement of the actual construction and renovation.

The Beacon Index

pgs. 1-7
Op/Ed
pgs. 8-9
Arts
pgs. 10-11
Sports
pgs. 12-16